

Preventive replacement of capacitors in a power supplies of a digital protective relays

It is offered to make preventive replacement electrolytic capacitors in the serviceable power supply units that have served more of 10 years in a digital protective relays. It allows preventing outflow of electrolyte and failure of a power supply.

